Arrangements for “Self-Registration for the Hong Kong Speech Festival Competition”

The 73rd Hong Kong Schools Speech Festival will soon begin. The school welcomes students who have not been selected by teachers to pay for themselves and participate in the competition to unleash their creativity and potential. Students interested in participating can register through the school. Please pay attention to the following reminders before registering:

- ★ Parents must decide whether to participate or not according to your children's abilities.
- ★ Students must pay themselves to participate in the competition. Each category is $145. Parents will arrange training by themselves, and the school will mainly handle the registration procedures on their behalf.
- ★ Parents are required to record videos by themselves according to the recording requirements of the organizer, and pass the videos to the school for uploading to the designated platform of the conference.
- ★ The recitation materials have been uploaded to the school intranet. Parents please choose the recitation materials and fill in the information required for registration before registering by themselves, such as Class, Chinese and English names, gender, date of birth, material number and contact phone number.
