

Dear Parents/Guardians,

17th September, 2021

“AIM Project”

Starting from the 2021/22 school year, the Education Bureau will allocate funds to implement a three-year "School-wide Participation and Stratification Support for Students with Autism-Schools and Non-Government Organizations Collaboration" (referred to as the "Schools and NGOs Collaboration" Project). They will continue the "JC A-Connect: Jockey Club Autism Support Network" to verify the effective group support model, provide extra-curricular group training for students in need, and improve their overall social adaptation skills and abilities. The model makes good use of NGOs' expertise on autism training, and arranges group training for students with autism through collaboration between schools and NGOs.

From this school year on, this project will entrust (The Salvation Army Sky Family and Child Development Center) to the school to cooperate with the school staff to provide participating students with no less than 18 hours of group training each year to strengthen students' learning adaptation and social communication, emotional control and problem-solving skills. In addition, the plan will also arrange parental activities at the same time to allow parents to learn more about effective methods and strategies to support their children. Group training is designed and done by experienced institutional professionals. During the three-year training period, students' progress will be regularly reviewed, and the training content will be adjusted accordingly to ensure the best training effectiveness. The content is as follows:
