

My dream job

By Pan Cho Man, Amy (6A)

'What do you want to be when you grow up?' Miss Leung asked. I said, 'I want to be an actress when I grow up.' There are three reasons why I want to be an actress.

The first reason is I am good at acting. I am a member of the drama team. I have learnt some useful skills in the drama classes. I have met some wonderful team members and I can learn different acting styles from them. I will practice the different techniques and become a great actress in the future.

The second reason is I am patient and outgoing. I am also good at listening to others. This is important because I need to cooperate well with other crew members when I am an actress.

The last reason is I think this is a meaningful job because I can play different roles. Playing different roles can help me understand other people's feelings, I find this very interesting. It also allows me to experience situations that I will never face in daily life. I feel excited about this.

There is one challenge for me. I am weak in English. However, I will read more English books so I can improve my English. If I become an actress, I will do a lot of rehearsals. I need to be hard-working so that I can perform well.

I hope I will graduate from Beijing Film Academy and I will be an actress in Hangzhou one day.
